LePopulaire Café | Restaurant

The history of the building

The building was constructed from 1733 to 1737 by architect Friedrich Wilhelm Diterich. The palais was inherited to the Prussian royal family in 1788. Heinrich Gentz rebuilt and expanded the building around 1810/11 to a residence for the three daughters of King Friedrich Wilhelm III. Since that time the name "Prinzessinnenpalais" became common.

After the Second World War the palais was almost completely destroyed.

At the beginning of the 1960s it has been reconstructed. At this time the "Operncafé" which was known far beyond the borders for its various confectionary products was established.

The Palais Populaire was opened as a platform for art, culture and sports of "Deutsche Bank" in September 2018. With LePopulaire a new Café | Restaurant under the leadership of Kofler & Kompanie moved in.

LePopulaire is a place that combines culture and culinary expertise.

Kofler & Kompanie is satisfying with its international and creative cuisine. A wide range of delicious cakes and tortes completes the offer.
